

InformData's Criminal Records and Court Data solution.

- 1800+ court research jurisdictions automated
- 60% of criminal records completed via automation
- 93+% direct sourced data

The difference is in the data

Quality data is the foundation of your screening business. You've got to be as close as possible to the best data. No middlemen! 97% of top CRAs trust InformData to provide their people-data supply chain. Here's why: 93% of our criminal record data is direct-sourced. Turn around time averages less than 8 hours on automated searches and you'll see 98% on-time performance for court research. We measure and report these statistics to make sure we're fulfilling our commitment to you. That's what a people-data supply chain that puts you closer to the data your business needs, means. That's what InformData does.

Comprehensive. Transparent. Direct-source data.

The typical criminal background check filters through as many as four middlemen: the CRA, a background screening data provider, a third-party research firm, an individual researcher, the courts – and then back up through the chain to the end-user. InformData establishes a direct line between CRAs, their end-users, and the courts, with as few layers of separation as possible.
